According to Mrs. Bonnard, her husband on the night of August 15, 1912, in rising from the dinner table, cut his head on the chandeller. He went out, but soon returned with a policeman, who took Mrs. Bonnard to the station-house. There she was told that her husband charged her with assaulting him with an axe. The case came up next day in Police Court. Despite her protestations of innecence Mrs. Bonnard was held for trial. When the case came before Justice Aspinall, the jury disagreed, and the indictment finally was disamissed. Mrs. Bonnard says she parrowly escaped being rail-roaded to prison.

In her complaint she sets forth numerous acts of alleged crieftly.

At the time of her marriage, she was working in her husband's factory, and continued to do so after the wedding.

Special Officer Thomas interrupted when about to execute vengeance, he would kill the interrupter, but that if filosy Allen were geaned, he would kill the interrupter, but that if his attention could be directed elsewhere, he could sometimes be called off. So Judge Bolen sought the eye of Victor Allen to help pacify the father. Failing to get his attention, he looked for Claude Allen nat that moment he saw Claude Allen for the first shot in the direction of Judge Bolen saw him shiver and saw the dust and lint fly from his shoulder, where the fatal shot was received. Then the firing became general.

Claude could have had in shooting Judge Massie.

Since the failure to procure the death sentence for Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, he continued, public sentiment in Carroll County and through the Southwest has undergone a great change. It was felt by the people, he argued, that it would be unjust to electrocute Floyd and Claude Allen, and to give life to Sidna and Wesley, who were at least equally guilty. Therefore, he asked that the Governor commute the two sentences to imprisonment in the penitentiary.

MEASLES RAGING

In this day and age of known facts there is absolutely no excuse for any one to suffer with stomach trouble, indigestion, sour risings, catarrh of the stomach, gas fermentations, etc.

Nearly 2,000 Cases Reported Thus Far to Loral Health Board.

Figures for the measles epidemic in Richmend continue to climb, and now the total number of cases is very close to the number of cases is very close to the number of cases is very close to the number of proons stricken in 1910. Nearly ninety new cases reported yesterday brought the health office totals up to 1,910; that number being reported since the first outbreak in November. Of this number, 1,816 developed during January, 246 in Decomber and twenty-three in November.

As the epidemic, which seems to recur with remarkable regularity every three years, generally lasts for three months or more, the health offices think that Richmend is just now in the centre of the attack, but the small number of deaths is regarded as a great step forward. In the epidemic of 1967 thirty-five deaths occurred in 1912 twenty-nine; and only seven have been reported in this year's total of nearly 2,000 cases.
